

ABOUT ROSIE'S PLACE

Rosie's Place is grateful to the volunteers, friends and supporters who truly make an impact on the lives of more than 12,000 poor and homeless women a year in the following ways:

We work to fight hunger by serving 100,000 nutritionally-balanced meals – breakfasts, lunches and dinners – to women and their children and by enabling 2,000 women each month to take home fresh and non-perishable groceries in our Food Pantry.

Our Advocacy staff schedules more than 15,000 appointments annually to assist guests with housing and job search, wellness care, transportation, funds for back rent and utility arrearage bills, and referrals.

Approximately 300 women stayed in our Overnight shelter, while advocates worked with them to find permanent homes and connect them with the services they need.

Through our Housing Stabilization efforts, 95% of guests receiving monthly in-home supports were able to stay housed and break the cycle of homelessness.

Our Legal Program grew by 30% this year, providing more than 1,000 consultations with attorneys who help guests with housing, family, immigration, employment, debt and benefit matters.

At our satellite office at the Franklin Field public housing development, Rosie's Place connects with more than 3,000 residents each year. We provide advocacy, outreach, legal and job assistance, support groups and food access to families in one of the city's most underserved neighborhoods.

The Women's Education Center helps an average of 360 women each semester improve skills and find opportunity through free English and computer classes and tutoring.

We work with more than 1,200 at-risk families with children attending Boston public schools through on-site outreach, housing assistance, food access and advocacy services.

Our Public Policy program empowers 450 women each year to learn more about their rights and to take action that fosters change on issues that affect poor and homeless women.

Our Court Collaborative program helped over 500 women in nine trial court sites through one-on-one advocacy, food and utility assistance, eviction prevention and public benefit eligibility.

Rosie's Place relies solely on the generous support of individuals, foundations and corporations and does not accept any city, state or federal funding. We are proud to ensure that 84 cents of every dollar raised goes directly to essential services for our guests.
